

We need to focus on early treatment and herd immunity. | Dr. Peter McCullough: "The Vaccine Is Failing In The UK And Israel" | The Story Of Ivermectin And COVID-19

I have a concern that school boards, County Commissioners, and governors will be pressured to mandate vaccines and masks. The goal of this document is to provide you with other perspectives that are not provided by the media so that you can use your critical thinking skills to make informed decisions.

We need to acknowledge that over the last year and a half fear has been impeding our ability to use critical thinking skills and common sense. Government agencies such as the CDC and FDA have made contradicting statements and errors on a massive scale. The testimony of experts and data in this document is overwhelming.

"The focus should be on herd immunity not vaccinations."

Bret Weinstein Evolutionary Biologist

We need to start using our own critical thinking skills. We need to start asking ourselves, have we been intentionally misled by our government and global elites? I recognize that you may find this question difficult to comprehend. However this has happened before in our recent history. After World War II they asked the Jews why didn't you stop the Nazis? Their response was. "We thought if we were just compliant, tolerant, and patient things would return to normal." I've done my part by putting you on notice of an incomplete presentation of the facts. All the information in this document was provided in the attached hyperlinks .

- The virus does not spread asymptotically.
- We should never test asymptomatic people.
- Natural immunity is robust, complete, and durable.
- COVID-19 is easily treatable at home with an early multi-drug treatment protocol.

- Analysis of the efficacy of early treatments for COVID-19. Treatments do not replace vaccines and other measures. All practical, effective, and safe means should be used. Elimination of COVID-19 is a race against viral evolution. No treatment, vaccine, or intervention is 100% available and effective for all current and future variants. How the COVID-19 Cases Were Inflated - Doctor and Senator Scott Jensen 01/20/2021

<https://rumble.com/vdzjrb-how-the-covid-19-cases-were-inflated-doctor-and-senator-scott-jensen.html>

A recent video from former Minnesota senator and current physician, Scott Jensen shows him talking about changes from the World Health Organization (WHO) and CDC on inauguration day regarding PCR false positives.

“You are being played. Do you understand what is happening? You are absolutely being played,” said Jensen

“Less than a month ago, on inauguration day the World Health Organization after conferring with the United States CDC came out with a two-fold directive in order to have fewer false positive tests regarding COVID-19.”

“Throughout 2020 Doctors and hospitals and clinics had been encouraged if not pressured to make the diagnosis of COVID-19 if we thought it was probable or presumed — we didn’t have to have a positive test.”

He goes on to talk about how the symptoms were “extremely broad based” including cough, low grade fever and shortness of breath.

“We see that a lot with colds, allergy seasons and certainly with influenza. But that’s all we needed to diagnose COVID-19 — that’s why you’ve seen influenza numbers plummet in March of 2020,” he said.

On President Biden’s inauguration day, the WHO came out and said that physicians, hospitals and clinics should make certain that a patient with symptoms consistent with COVID-19 needs to have a positive test matched up to that syndrome of symptoms in order to diagnose someone.

“That’s going to eliminate a lot of the cases. Cause no longer is it going to be enough to look at a patient who has a cough or low-grade fever and say ‘well you’ve got COVID.’ Now it’s gotta be symptoms consistent with a positive test.”

The WHO also came out and strongly encouraged that PCR testing should no longer be running at cycle thresholds — at 40, 44 or 45 — but something that we would normally use.

“Understanding that PCR was never created to diagnose a viral disease. It was created for an entirely different purpose — but we’ve been using it to diagnose COVID-19 and we’ve been abusing it — because we have been running the cycles so many times that in some studies it was projected that possibly 85 per cent of the positive PCR tests were false positives,” said Jensen.

PCR was never created to diagnose a viral disease. We have been running the cycles so many times that in some studies it was projected that possibly 85 per cent of the positive PCR tests were false positives.

FORMER SENATOR AND CURRENT PHYSICIAN – SCOTT JENSEN

“So there you have it — two things happened on inauguration day that were virtually guaranteed to lower the number of cases of COVID-19 — was it politically motivated? Can we trust politicians and appointed bureaucrats?,” he said.

He finishes on the video talking about politicians saying many of the things he’s been saying for nearly a year now. “I have been saying this for darn near a year now and I am disgusted with the treatment the American people are getting. The fact of the matter is we should have our schools open. You’re going to see governors now sort of pandering to the public opinion — and they’re going to do things and they’re going to boast and run victory laps that they didn’t earn. Because what they did do and the damage they did cause shouldn’t have happened — but it did.” “You’re going to see governors now sort of pandering to the public opinion — and they’re going to do things and they’re going to boast and run victory laps that they didn’t earn.”

DR. SCOTT JENSEN “And another thing — we are seeing a remarkable drop in the percentage of total US deaths caused by cancer, heart disease — I wonder why? Do you think we found the cure to cancer and heart disease?,” said Jensen.

“You’re being played.”

Coronavirus disease (COVID-19): Serology

9 June 2020 | Q&A

What is herd immunity?

Herd immunity is the indirect protection from an infectious disease that happens when a population is immune either through vaccination or immunity developed through previous infection. This means that even people who haven't been infected, or in whom an infection hasn't triggered an immune response, they are protected because people around them who are immune can act as buffers between them and an infected person. The threshold for establishing herd immunity for COVID-19 is not yet clear.

Coronavirus disease (COVID-19): Serology, antibodies and immunity

13 November 2020 | Q&A

What is herd immunity?

'Herd immunity', also known as 'population immunity', is a concept used for vaccination, in which a population can be protected from a certain virus if a threshold of vaccination is reached.

Herd immunity is achieved by protecting people from a virus, not by exposing them to it. Read the Director-General's 12 October media briefing speech for more detail.

And now there's more data from Africa showing the undeniable results. It seems as though Africa has now surpassed the U.S. in its ability to follow the science and apply it. It's important to point out the graphs presented are from John Hopkins. See picture on next page.

This morning, Tokyo Medical Association announced publicly that it is recommending that all doctors begin treating COVID with Ivermectin after witnessing the results from other countries. Why does the CDC's data show that the greatest risk of catching COVID-19 is in the most vaccinated countries in the world?

CDC Travel Risk:

<https://www.cdc.gov/coronavirus/2019-ncov/travelers/map-and-travel-notice.html>

Johns Hopkins Vaccinations:

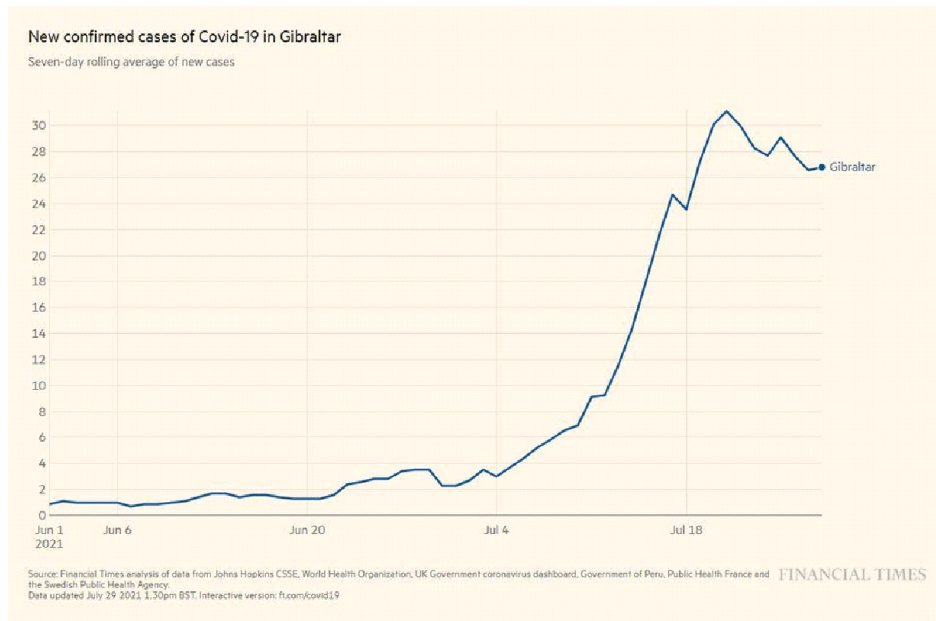

<https://coronavirus.jhu.edu/vaccines/international>

*The data also shows that the 'delta variant' is much less deadly for a virus that the CDC says you have a 99.5% chance of surviving if you are below the age of 70. This is the first time in human history that we have mass tested the healthy and many countries are setting their PCR cycle thresholds between 35-45 which are producing 90% or more false positives.

*With around 33,000 residents, Gibraltar is the most vaccinated country on earth.

By June 1st, over 99% of Gibraltar's population was fully vaccinated.

Since that time, new COVID cases per day have increased from 1 to 25 and the country is now going back into lockdowns. See picture on next page.

Similar stories are occurring in other countries with the highest percentages vaccinated; Israel, UK, Malta and Iceland.

Clearly, the vaccine does not stop infections.

Why is the goal to vaccinate everyone if the most vaccinated countries on earth are going back into lockdowns?

Are masks effective? Most Recovered COVID-19 Patients Have Broad and Robust Immunity.

A Group Of Parents Sent Their Kids' Face Masks to A Lab for Analysis. Here's What They Found

A call to action and alert from a series of experts and professionals from around the world.

The analysis detected the following 11 alarmingly dangerous pathogens on the masks:

- Streptococcus pneumoniae (pneumonia)
- Mycobacterium tuberculosis (tuberculosis)
- Neisseria meningitidis (meningitis, sepsis)
- Acanthamoeba polyphaga (keratitis and granulomatous amebic encephalitis)
- Acinetobacter baumannii (pneumonia, blood stream infections, meningitis, UTIs— resistant to antibiotics)
- Escherichia coli (food poisoning)
- Borrelia burgdorferi (causes Lyme disease)
- Corynebacterium diphtheriae (diphtheria)
- Legionella pneumophila (Legionnaires' disease)
- Staphylococcus pyogenes serotype M3 (severe infections—high morbidity rates)
- Staphylococcus aureus (meningitis, sepsis)

Masks May Spread Coronavirus

The theory behind wearing masks is that the mask wearer must wear a mask to prevent his/her breath to transmit. Therefore, it is important that the mask wearer select the proper mask. Please click the link below to see instructional videos to help you determine the right mask for you. It is important to note, a coronavirus droplet measures approximately 90 nanometers. This particle is way too small to be viewed by the human eye, measuring about 900 millionth of a meter. You would need a transmission electron microscopes (TEM) to see one particle. So when you watch the video, the droplets you see are real, but the actual number of droplets that are exhaled could be 900 million times those you see. Now you have some information, so you can make the right choice for you.

Most Recovered COVID-19 Patients Have Broad and Robust Immunity That Likely Provides Some Degree of Protection Against Variants: Study

Most people who have recovered from COVID-19, even with mild illness, retain a broad and durable immunity to the disease, including some degree of protection against its variants, according to an Emory University study published in the journal, Cell Reports Medicine.

The longitudinal study, the most comprehensive of its kind to date, involved 254 COVID-19 patients, between the ages of 18 to 82 years, who provided blood samples at various points for a period of over eight months beginning in April 2020. About 71 percent of the patients had mild disease, 24 percent experienced moderate illness, and five percent had severe disease.

The researchers found that most of the patients who recovered mounted a strong and wide-ranging immune response to the covid-19 for up to 250 days.

“We saw that antibody responses, especially IgG antibodies, were not only durable in the vast majority of patients but decayed at a slower rate than previously estimated, which suggests that patients are generating longer-lived plasma cells that can neutralize the SARS-CoV-2 spike protein,” Rafi Ahmed, director at Emory Vaccine Center and lead author told Emory News Center on July 22. SARS-CoV-2 is the scientific name of the CCP virus that causes the disease COVID-19.

The authors said that natural immunity after recovery from the disease offered some degree of protection against variants as research suggests that COVID-19 vaccines may be slightly less effective against them.

“The immune response to natural infection is likely to provide some degree of protective immunity even against SARS-CoV-2 variants because the CD4+ and CD8+ T cell epitopes will likely be conserved,” the authors wrote.

The Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) says it is monitoring multiple variants, but only four are of concern since they “seem to spread more easily and quickly than other variants.” While experts say while variants may be more transmissible, that does not necessarily translate to more severe disease or fatalities.

The Indian or delta variant currently accounts for over 80 percent of all new sequenced cases in the United States. Scientists say more research is still needed to confirm if infection with this variant is associated with more severe disease, hospitalization, and death.

The other three variants of concern, named according to where they were first identified, are the United Kingdom variant, the South African variant, and the Brazilian variant.

The authors also found that COVID-19 recovered patients displayed stable antibody responses to the other human coronaviruses that cause the common cold, the Middle East Respiratory Syndrome, or the severe acute respiratory syndrome (SARS-CoV).

“These data are most consistent with the generation of long-lived plasma cells and refute the current notion that these antibody responses to human coronaviruses are short lived,” the researchers said. “Moreover, the COVID-19 patients mounted increased IgG antibody responses to SARS-CoV-1, a related pathogen that none likely had experienced previous exposure to.”

The researchers will continue to follow the cohort for several years, with the last sample collection of the participants set for February 2023. Doing so allows the researchers to gather more data to “define the progression to long-lived immunity” to the CCP virus after natural infection.

The findings add to the growing body of research that indicates that recovered COVID-19 patients develop long-lasting immunity.

A limitation of the study is that it didn’t include more severe COVID-19 patients and those who are asymptomatic. However, the authors noted that “mild-moderate illness accounts for [more than] 80 percent of COVID-19 cases, highlighting the relevance of our findings over time.”

The authors said that the study’s findings will “also serve as a benchmark for immune memory induced in humans by SARS-CoV-2 vaccines.”

We are in an asymmetrical War. "China is using unrestricted warfare."

Below is the supporting information on China using unrestricted warfare. We are intentionally misled by our government and global elites. I list a few examples of experiments showing how people will follow authority figures and take part in atrocities and how people are easily manipulated.

Unrestricted Warfare: A book on military strategy written in 1999 by two colonels in the People's Liberation Army. Two Air Force Senior Colonels on Scenarios for War and the Operational Art in an Era of Globalization.

https://en.m.wikipedia.org/wiki/Unrestricted_Warfare

Book Overview

A sobering and fascinating study on war in the modern era, "Unrestricted Warfare" carefully explores strategies that militarily and politically disadvantaged nations might take in order to successfully attack a geopolitical super-power like the United States. American military doctrine is typically led by technology; a new class of weapon or vehicle is developed, which allows or encourages an adjustment in strategy. Military strategists Qiao Liang and Wang Xiangsui argue that this dynamic is a crucial weakness in the American military, and that this blind spot with regard to alternative forms warfare could be effectively exploited by enemies. "Unrestricted Warfare" concerns the many ways in which this might occur, and, in turn, suggests what the United States might do to defend itself. The traditional mentality that offensive action is limited to military action is no longer adequate given the range of contemporary threats and the rising costs-both in dollars and lives lost-of traditional warfare. Instead, Liang and Xiangsui suggest the significance of alternatives to direct military confrontation, including international policy, economic warfare, attacks on digital infrastructure and networks, and terrorism. Even a relatively insignificant state can incapacitate a far more powerful enemy by applying pressure to their economic and political systems. Exploring each of these considerations with remarkable insight and clarity, "Unrestricted Warfare" is an engaging evaluation of our geopolitical future.

Navy Commander Warns of National Security Threat from Mandatory Vaccination

Welcome to 1938: First, they came for the unvaccinated. By Wayne Allyn Root

It's time for alarm bells. It's time for me to play the part of Paul Revere: "The communist tyrants and dictators are coming! The communist tyrants and dictators are coming!" They're coming first for unvaccinated Americans. This is 1938. I'm a Jew. I now understand just a little of what it felt like to be a Jew in 1938. No, it's not the Holocaust. Nothing can be compared to the Holocaust. Ever. But 1938 was not the Holocaust. It was the pre-Holocaust. It was the time before the nightmare, when the foundation was being laid to destroy the freedom, free speech, businesses and lives of millions of Jews. Read the full article in the link below.

The U.S. Public Health Service Syphilis Study at Tuskegee

<https://www.cdc.gov/tuskegee/timeline.htm>

In 1932, the USPHS, working with the Tuskegee Institute, began a study to record the natural history of syphilis. It was originally called the “Tuskegee Study of Untreated Syphilis in the Negro Male” (now referred to as the “USPHS Syphilis Study at Tuskegee”). The study initially involved 600 Black men – 399 with syphilis, 201 who did not have the disease. Participants’ informed consent was not collected. Researchers told the men they were being treated for “bad blood,” a local term used to describe several ailments, including syphilis, anemia, and fatigue. In exchange for taking part in the study, the men received free medical exams, free meals, and burial insurance.

By 1943, penicillin was the treatment of choice for syphilis and becoming widely available, but the participants in the study were not offered treatment.

China and Global elites are using 5th generation Warfare to convert the world to a totalitarian one world government. Will believers of judeo-christian values wake up before it's too late?

Quote by Gustave Le Bon: "The masses have never thirsted after truth. "

The masses have never thirsted after truth. They turn aside from evidence that is not to their taste, preferring to deify error, if error seduces them. Whoever can supply them with illusions is easily their master; whoever attempts to destroy their illusions is always their victim. An individual in a crowd is a grain of sand amid other grains of sand, which the wind stirs up at will.

Do your own research. I am not a medical doctor.
